Showdown Due in U. S.-French Shipping Crisis

New York Longshoremen May Refuse to Unload Ship Arriving Wednesday

New York, Nov. 30—(Associated Press)—A new test of strength between striking insurgent seamen and longshoremen who have stuck to their jobs appeared imminent today in a debate over the refusal of French steamboatmen to unload ships flying the American flag.

The longshoremen, who have refused to join the month-old walkout in Atlantic and Gulf ports, threatened to retaliate by not unloading the Champlain, due to dock Wednesday as the first French liner to reach this port since the international situation developed.

The seamen, in sympathy with whom the French workers acted, came back with a declaration they would unload the Champlain themselves.

A hope that a showdown might be avoided came from Joseph Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's union. "Everybody is working to straighten out the trouble," he said, "we won't decide what to do until the Champlain arrives."

The strike strategy committee shot a barb at the Board of Trade and the American Shipowners association, suggesting that they "get together on their press release."

The Board of Trade has appealed to Secretary of Labor Perkins to act to end the strike which it described as a national emergency. The shipowners, on the other hand, said the strike was causing little trouble and that "all ships scheduled to leave New York over the weekend, according to our reports, left on schedule.

Federal Mediators Work to End Coast Strike Block

San Francisco, Nov. 30—(Associated Press)—Federal mediators persisted in maritime strike peace efforts today despite another setback which left the month-long blockade of Pacific ports unbroken except for release of Alaska food ships.

Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, said he hoped to bring the coastwise operators of 70 freight vessels back for discussions which ended abruptly Saturday when they demanded the deck officers return to ships under pre-strike conditions.

The coastwise owners previously had reached virtual agreements with all unions except the masters, mates and pilots.

Steel Strikers Resume Talks With Employers

Detroit, Nov. 30 — (Associated Press)—Representatives of 1,200 "sit down" strikers and the management of the Midland Steel Products resume negotiations today over a union demand for a wage increase of "about 10 per cent."

Richard T. Frankensteen, organization director for the United Automobile Workers of America, said the company agreed to a 45-hour week, with time and a half for overtime, and recognition of the union as a bargaining agency at a conference Sunday.

Recital at St. James' Church in Johnson City

Binghamton Press Bureau
Johnson City, Nov. 30

John O'Shay, organist at St. James' church, Johnson City, has completed plans for an organ and choral recital in that church at 3:30 p. m. next Sunday, under direction of the American Guild of Organists.

The Rev. Gerald F. Horan of Syracuse, supervisor of music for the Central New York Diocese of the Catholic church, will speak on "Church Music."

Program for the recital will include demonstrations of Catholic music, with short descriptions of the various numbers, preceding and following their rendition. A chorus of about 100 voices will assist Mr. O'Shay during the program.

John Skokauskas Denies Father's Assault Charge

Binghamton Press Bureau
Endicott, Nov. 30

John Skokauskas, 21, of 704 Irvington avenue, denied a third degree assault charge filed against him by his father, Anthony, on arraignment late Saturday before Police Justice Rory G. Cameron in Endicott Police Court.

Trial on the assault count was set for Dec. 3 by Justice Cameron and the defendant was released in the custody of his attorney, Jacob T. Becker.

Facing a third degree assault charge today is Joseph Kindrewchi, 39, of 22 Odell avenue, who also will be arraigned before Justice Cameron. Miss Mary Prusia is complainant.

Endicott Fire Fighters Respond to Two Alarms

Binghamton Press Bureau
Endicott, Nov. 30

Endicott's fire department responded to two alarms Saturday night.

Blaze between partitions in the home of Charles Green, 221 Madison avenue, believed to have been caused by a defective chimney, was extinguished without difficulty by firemen between 10 and 11 p. m. Damage was slight.

Firemen also answered an alarm filed by E. E. Mills of 1513 Riverview drive late Saturday afternoon. Smouldering rags in an ashcan in the basement of the house prompted the alarm. There was no damage.

Where F. D. R. Will Stay at Buenos Aires

One of the several reception rooms in the American embassy in Buenos Aires where President Roosevelt will stop while attending the opening of the Inter-American Peace Conference Tuesday. The President will be the guest of Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell and Mrs. Weddell at the embassy.

velt, who had rebearded the vessel.

President Roosevelt got into a car waiting at the foot of the gangplank after greeting President Justo, to whom he was introduced by United States Ambassador Alexander W. Weddell.

Then the two executives drove off together along the 50-block route to the United States embassy. Mr. Roosevelt's residence during his visit.

He is to make the opening address when the Inter-American peace parley, proposed by him last winter, gets under way at 4 p. m. tomorrow.

Eight Argentine warships and a river flotilla escorted the Indianapolis up the Rio Plata to the quay, while Argentine planes circled and dipped overhead.

Near the dock—scene which a red carpet an eighth of a mile long had been laid—massed the foot-tall horse grenadiers of Argentina's liberator, Gen. Jose de San Martin, in blue uniforms with white epaulettes.

The route of the 11-car motorcade to the embassy was lined with enthusiastic Argentines, who scurried to their places when the Indianapolis was identified by tugs, according to the quay, while Argentine planes circled and dipped overhead.

Mounted and foot policemen restrained the crowds at the Plaza de Britanica, near the dock.

Within a few hundred yards of the United States embassy, Mr. Roosevelt's car swung around a monument to the Spanish colonizers of Argentina, the center of the great square in beautiful Palermo park.

Over that memorial a great altar, surrounded by a cross, was built for the 1934 International Eucharistic Congress.

From the monument, the car turned into the embassy, where 16 rooms have been set aside for President Roosevelt and his aides.

The building is situated in a private park of 44,000 square feet. With its carefully cultivated grass, hedges and rosebuds, in their early summer freshness, it is an ideal place for the President to work.

The San Martin grenadiers, who accompanied the auto procession to the embassy, were mounted on great, white horses. Many wore the dress uniforms they have used when San Martin led the Argentine struggle for independence, mustered in the original regiment and administered a crushing defeat to Spanish troops at San Lorenzo, in 1812.

Nine Argentine warships and the river flotilla formed an escort for the Indianapolis on the occasion of the ceremonies of the Uruguayan coast last night.

The Argentine warships saluted Mr. Roosevelt with 21 guns as the United States chief executive and President Agustin Justo of Argentina exchanged messages by wireless.

The Argentine president sent this message to Mr. Roosevelt: :

"The people and the government of the Argentine Republic send forth a cordial salute of welcome and with unanimous feeling express the happiness with which they will receive your visit and the noble purposes which it inspires because it is in accord with the principles of neighbors and reciprocity maintained by long traditions and because they wish to express in their homage to you as an illustrious emissary from the great friendly nation the deep solidarity in your proposals for peace which enlivens your international policies and find an echo in the heart of the Argentine nation.

"I greet Your Excellency with expressions of my highest consideration and regards."

Mr. Roosevelt replied:

"Your generous message of welcome comes to me at the moment the splendid ships of the Argentine navy have greeted me and are escorting me over the last miles of this delightful voyage.

"I send to you and the people of Argentina my cordial salute. I am eagerly looking forward to my visit, secure in the confidence that our mutual policy of the good neighbor will find fulfillment in the coming weeks. I send you my personal regards."

Delegates in the capital, discussing pre-conference proposals, showed interest in one major question: The evolution of a defensive pan-American policy designed to keep nations of the Western Hemisphere free from foreign entanglements in Europe and the Far East.

It was reported President Roosevelt's speech at Rio de Janeiro last week sounded a keynote for elaborated cooperation between the American nations both in neutrality and trade problems.

Britain Fears Shutdown on War Supply Exports

London, Nov. 30 — (Associated Press) — Possibility the Inter-American conference might prohibit shipment of war materials to Europe, authoritative quarters said today, is causing concern in Great Britain.

In the midst of a huge rearmament program, it was said, the British naturally are looking to their sources of supply—many of which normally comes from North and South America.

Minnesota's 'Shrinking Man' Gains 15 Pounds in Comeback

Minneapolis, Nov. 30—(Associated Press)—The "shrinking man" of Minneapolis—42-year-old Hans Nelson—formally announced today a 15-pound gain in weight as evidence today that he was making a comeback.

The shrunken painter, victim of the bone disease sclinanolia, dwindled in stature from 5 feet 10 inches to 5 feet and in weight from 190 pounds to 149 in 13 years.

But corrective dieting and injections of calcium at the University of Minnesota hospital have enabled him to throw off that "tired feeling," he said, and to resume normal human pursuits.

"I have gained 15 pounds; last summer I drove my car several thousand miles and I can putter around the garage," said Mr. Nelson. "Those wonderful doctors have helped me. Maybe I will be able to work again."

University of Minnesota medical authorities were not so sanguine. Mr. Nelson is gaining strength but the shrinkage has not been definitely checked, they said he suffered two relapses during his year of treatment and was bed ridden for several months.

Trooper Shot by Burglar in School House

Intruder Uses State Officer's Gun as They Battle in Cazenovia

Cazenovia, Nov. 30—(Associated Press)—A burglar who wounded State Trooper John Wheeler with his own gun when trapped in the office of Cazenovia central school was sought by police today in a widespread search.

Mr. Wheeler is in a Syracuse hospital with a bullet wound in the thigh.

His assailant and an accomplice also, are wanted for questioning, police said, in the $22 robbery of a Canastota High school safe.

State Trooper John Wheeler said he and Mr. Wheeler traced footprints in the snow to the school building and then went to the school office.

The intruder, waiting inside the door, jumped on Mr. Wheeler, Mr. Wheeler said, and in the ensuing scramble Mr. Wheeler lost his gun. Mr. Wheeler said he was unable to shoot for fear of hitting his partner.

As occupied cars several of cars were fired, one of them striking the trooper. He lost his hold on the man who fled to a car occupied by his accomplice.

Church Value to Single Man Is Emphasized

The Rev. Reeves Havens Tells of Differences in Sunday Sermon

Binghamton Press Bureau
Endicott, Nov. 30

Churches make a marked difference in the life of a single man and in the social life of a whole community, the Rev. Reeves C. Havens declared in his address on the theme "What Difference Do Churches Make" at the morning service in Vestal M. E. church Sunday.

"Churches," Mr. Havens said in part, "promote the social acceptance of a community, and moral ideals can get a place to work."

"The cross is a symbol of Christianity. Under this symbolic emblem is being cultivated all that is the finest of love and brotherhood. The world is dotted with hospitals, homes for the aged and orphans, placed where they are and maintained by the church. It would be a sign of ignorance to attribute every effort of mercy to the spirit which is derived from the church.

"Social and tuberculosis seal campaigns could never have had their origin under Mohammedanism.

"Occasionally a cynic asks, 'What do churches do?' It would be just as insane to ask 'What does the sun do?' As the sun helps to destroy predatory insects and build good life, so is the influence of the Church of God in society.

"The church's criticism of vice, immorality and all forms of injustice and unfairness does not destroy society; it constructs it. Too often by those who do not understand, the church is considered a detriment. The fact of history disproves this fallacy. The church is a builder of character, and on this is built a superstructure of a happy, peaceful, law abiding community.

"The church makes a great difference in the life of a man. As he finds Jesus Christ's way of life, he reacts to society. He is for everything that is right and good. In this he makes his contribution. One hundred men of his type in a community make a difference. If that community's life. Transformed men make a reformed society. It is obvious that churches do make a difference."

The Right Word

By W. Curtis Nicholson.

SEEMS CONVINCED

P. G. Jones, Columbia, S. C., seems convinced that he is right in the matter of "and" and "or." He should be used with "more than one." The word "each" always is rather annexed that "The Right Word" insists that a singular verb should follow "each."

"Referring to the seventh sentence in Punctuation Test, Answer George Lyman Kittredge, for 47 years Professor of English at Harvard University, author of many textbooks and other books, unequivocally endorses the use of the plural verb 'are' when more than one, etc.) in this sentence. He does not even mention the singular verb 'is' as permissible.

"I think you have on occasions cited such authority. It seems to me hardly fair to given preference in your tests, on which high authorities do not agree, to a verdict the matter of whether or not the number of nouns or one of a pulse or plural can only be determined by the number of nouns he has in mind. Is he thinking of the individuals or the group as a whole?

"For instance was the only one that stood between me and the CENTURY CLUB, and I suspect, numerous others.

"Thanks for your kind attention."

Strange! Strange that it should be alleged by Mr. Duke that Professor Kittredge authorizes the use of a plural verb with "more than one" when the professor does not use a plural vers himself. See the next instalment of "The Right Word."
